About the let of last Angust I was taken with a iry, hacking cough, which kept growing worse until about the middle of last January, such a violent ough set in all at once that it seemed at every monent it would rack me aimost to pieces. I had tried arious remedies, but without any durable relief; there did not seem to be any action in my bowels, and my liver was torpid also. I and my friends had given up all hopes of my recovery; and one in particular, who had two sons die of quick consumption, said that I was following them speedily. At length, being reluces to a very low state of health, I was induced to ry Professor Wilicox's Electropathic treatment, and, strange to say, to my great joy and satisfaction i experienced relief from the first application. My ough loosened, and I began to throw up masses of thick, foamy mucus; my appetite was a great deal softer; my bowels and liver were aroused to healthy action; my night-sweats ceased, and in ten applications I was considered cured. I gained in fiesh about we pounds per week. It is now a little over a month ince I received the last treatment, and sufficient in the has elapsed to know that the cure is permanent.

Farmers & Millers' Bank of Milwaukes versus E. M. Hall. At notion tried before Judga Spencer on a note for Slow, dated at Milwaukes, July, 1850, made by Hall to D. G. Smith, and by him sold, in 1838, to the Farmers & Millers Bank.

The defense was, that the note was given in part consideration for real estate in Milwankee, and that, on the discovery of the title being defective, the sale was rescinded a few weeks after the date of the note. Fower agreeing to redesires said note to Hall, but was unable to do so, having hypothechecist it to Smith in whose hands it remained until it was discounted by the Hank. It was claimed, also, that it was discounted by the Lashier, for the purpose of defeating the defense of Hall: also, that the Bank was not a bona falle holder.

PROBATE COURT. PROBATE COURT.

PROBATE OF WILL—An application was made to admit to probate an instrument, dated July 10, purporting to be the last will and testament of Mary fillmore. It was presented by Phorbe Livingston, late Gilmore, and devises leasehold interests and personal property. Another will, of the same party, has been admitted to probate in May, 4839, and that now offered is alleged to have been executed when the testator was not of sound mind. The investigation has not closed.

THE ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Astronomical Society was advertised to be held Wednesday, afternoon, but from some cause which we could not learn, a quorum did not attend. This we believe is not uncommon with this association, although no reason can be assigned for it, unless it be that its tendency is downward, instead of upward as it should be. There is no doubt large benefit is to be derived from a study of the stars, but the persons who should promote, appear to be those who retard it.

STARRING AFFAIR BETWEEN TWO BOYS .- A dispute occurred, night before last, at Wood's Theater, be-tween a couple of young men named respectively Jeremiah Shea and Richard Seymour, in which the latter was cut by a pocket-knife, in the hands of the other, in the neck, making quite a painful but not dangerous wound. Shea, who is but about seventeen years of age, was arrested by Officer Colby, and taken before Judge Lowe yesterday morning; but as no affidavit had been filed against him, he was dis-charged upon payment of the costs.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.-A woman named Mary Marrie went before Esq. Hanselman Wednesday, and charged John Gudjend with provoking a breach of the peace. He had accused her of having been guilty of a sin, which shall be nameless, in company with a man named Augustus Cunio, and this so much excited her indignation that she had him arrested. He wished to have the examination postponed until the 22d inst., to which the magistrate consented, and he was held in $200 for his appearance at that time. He failed, however, to procure the necessary security, and was, therefore, committed to the custody of Jailer

UNITED STATES COURTS .- The following Petit Jury was impanneled Wednesday in the U. S. Courts: John Chenney, L. H. Olds, Wm. B. Van Hook, Amos Layman, N. F. Stone, John Hough, Joseph Cline, C. Wallace, Chas. C. Walker, Richard Cowling, Matthew Bonner and Thomas Barry.

An action for a writ of ejectment in the case of in Covington and Newport are busily engaged in per-fecting arrangements, on a magnificent scale, for the grand celebration which will take place on Tuesday, 26th inst., the anniversary of the introduction of the Order into the United States. The procession will be formed at half-past eight o'clock A. M., under the direction of Grand Marshals Jno. G. Collins, of Newport, and Capt. E. Rees, of tovington, assisted by H. B. Coffin, A. P. Stewart, C. J. Murdock and C. P. Buchannan, of Newport, and Jno. Hambrick, J. W. Farrell, G. W. Marshall and O. B. Wiggins, of Covington. Accompanying the procession will be several cars, handsomely and appropriately decorated with the various embloms and figures peculiar to that Order. A large turnout is anticipated.

WHO CAN INTERPRET THE MYSTERY OF THE SEVEN poraries has been very much shocked at the idea of publishing the most scandalous portions of the evi-dence in the Sickles case; but a diversity of opinion cems to exist in reference to what portions of the testimony should appear in print, and what portions should not. The Gazette is horrified at the shameessness of the Commercial in publishing certain renences which the former prudently omitted, while the ame paper arrays before the public, without stint, what the Commercial considers too select for the masses, and in lieu thereof inserts * * * * * * * . We apprehend that the use of a peop glass of high magnifring power was not necessary to the solution of the significance of this astronomical phenomenou, and the astuteness necessary in getting so much (not hid-den) meaning in so small a space, is a rare exhibition of enterprise and shrewdness

A VERY PLEASANT DOMESTIC SCENE .- A widow woman who lives on Broadway, near Pearl street, a few days ago complained to a female who keeps a boarding-house in the same neighborhood that she had been grossly insulted by a certain Captain who had rooms in the house alluded to. The husband of the person to whom complaint had been made, becoming aware of the facts, quarreled with the Captain and drew a knife upon him, at the same time threatening to send the soul of his adversary to that myth-ical place whose name is often used as a synonym for an exceedingly hot temperature. At this stage of the proceeding his wife interfered, stating that she did ot doubt that the widow had been mistaken and that the Captain was a gertleman, and was entitled to the respect of every person in the house for his noble bearing and courteous demeanor. This re-en-raged the husband, and that monster whose green eyes, while staring at its victim, charmed Reason from its seat, placed itself upon her throne, and he struck his wife, knocking her down; and, not content with this, kicked her severely, so much so, indeed. that it will be some time before she will be again able to resume her household duties. The widow, who evidently complained of the Captain because he had not paid that attention to her which her vanity led her to believe she deserved, seeing the turn affairs were taking, fainted, which fast drew the attention of he husband, who appears to be somewhat interested in her, and thus ended a scene worthy the pen of a Fielding. The wife, woman-like, has refused to appear against the wretch who struck her, hence, untheir own destruction.

The Pittsburg Daily "True Press" of Wednesday asks the question, "Why does the Iron College prosper?" and then proceeds to answer in this wise: "By employing none but the swer in this wise: "By employing none but the highest grade of cultivated talent for instructors." We shall suppose that the instructors in Iron College are thoroughly qualified men; but we take leave to say that if they were the most eminent of professors of caligraphy and accounts, the proprietors of the college would profit but little from that circumstance alone, unless their excellence and ability were made public. The true secret of success is in the public. The true secret of success is in the extensive advertising of the college, a principle it would be well for other schools and col-

Professor Peck, one of the "rescuers" now in jail in Cleveland, preached to a crowd of ladies and gentlemen in the court-yard of the jail on Tuesday last. Great was the excitement, as a matter of course. The Cieveland Herald publishes a long account of the preceedings, and adds, at the close, "The remark was general in the crowd, that were the prisoners in the custody of the United States officers and Southern slave-catchers, instead of the friendly care of the County Sheriff, the jail walls would present but a frail barrier between a liberating crowd and the incarcerated prisoners. The numbers and the spirit for such an undertaking were both present, but under the circumstances it was well known such a measure was not

SWIFT RETRIBUTION.—Some months since a man named Fischer murdered his wife, at Fon du Luc, and then fied. The Governor offered a reward for his arrest. We learn from the Fon du Lac Press that his remains were found the other day in the river at that place. It is supposed that after the murder he attempted to escape across the ice, which was very frail, and he broke through, thus meeting his fate. ALLEGED WIFE-POISON .- In the "DAILY

Pass," of March 25, we sticed the fact, that the wife of the Rev. J. S. Harden, of Belvidere, Warren County, N. J., had died on the 9th of that month under suspicious circumstances, and that Mr. Hardin had fled. We have now to announce that Hardin was arrested on Sunday last, at Fairmount, Va., where he was passing under the name of Austin. RUSH TO PIKE'S PRAK .- The St. Louis Dem-

It is wonderful; it astonishes even Mississiphi and Missouri river stemboatmen. One company of eighty young men from Western Virginia Jeave this morning." The Democrat says, moreover, "the task of keeping a journal of the arrivals of Pike's Peakers at this point, soon appeared such a huge undertaking, that we renounced it in despair."

OF DOUBTFUL PROPRIETY. — The special Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes: "It is well known that the prosecution writes: "It is well known that the prosecution are preparing to make an onslaught on the character of Mr. Sickles. Every one here asks what that has to do with the matter. 'Did Sickles kill Key?' 'Did he commit the act under provocation given by Key?' These are the issues, 'What have Sickles' antecedents to do with these?'—is generally inquired. The feeling out doors is decided against any wanton attack on Mr. Sickles by the prosecuwanton attack on Mr. Sickles by the prosecu-tion. If such be their tactics, they will go astray. It is considered that Sickles has suffered enough, and that the prosecution ought not to go beyond their duty."

SUICIDE.—On Sunday afternoon two ladies called at the Daguerrean saloon of Conrad Koehler, Houston street, New York, and had their likenesses taken. One of the ladies objected to her likenesses as not being accurate, and he requested her to call on Monday. He and he requested her to call on Monday. He then went into an adjoining room, and while the ladies were arranging their toilet they heard a fall as of a heavy body, and on looking into the room they saw the unfortunate Koehler lying in the agonies of death. On the inquest, Koehler's widow deposed that on Tuesday afternoon she purchased for her husband three cents worth of cyanide of potash, a drug nsed by him in his art; as soon as he got it he ate some of it, when she exclaimed "What did you do that for?" Mrs. Koehler then told the ladies her husband was not well, but before they left the saloon he fell as above described. She could not assign any cause for the desperate act. Koehier, who has been about eighteen mosths in this country, was post-master for a long time in the city of Benshelm, Hesse Darmstadt, SICKLES' FRIENDS IN COURT .- At half-past ten (says the correspondent of the Herald,) on Tuesday, Mr. Sickles came in accompanied by the jailor and officers, and his faithful, inseparable companion, Rev. Mr. Haley, a Unita-rian minister, who has been by his side during the whole trial. Mr. Haley is quite indignant at the liberty taken with him by the District Attorney in describing him as a clerical supe, to keep the theological part of the house in order. It was he who furnished the scriptural part of the argument; hence the application Mr. Ould sought an opportunity for explaining, but Mr. Haley declined. Emanuel B. Hart and Thomas J. Browne, of New York, are un-remitting in their attentions to Mr. Sickles. Dr. Morehead is equally attentive to Mr. Sickles, senior. Mr. Bagieli has not been in Court for the past week. Chevalier Wykoff evinces active sympathies with the defense.

Mas. Harryng .- The Albany correspondent Mas. Harrung.—The Albany correspondent of the New York Times, under dute of the 18th inst., has the following respecting Mrs. Hartung: It was one year ago yesterday that Mary Hartung bought the powdered arsenic—estensibly for her paramour to preserve stuffed birds with, but which was used to poison her husband with. It is a year next Thursday that he died. Yesterday I called to see Mrs. Hartung in the Albany Jail. She was in a large room—which, except that it was within a jail, was very comfortable. She sat reading the Testament; by her side was a conv of the the Testament; by her side was a copy of the N. Y. Times—on the wall, pinned up, a copy of Frank Leslie's paper with the illustrations, showing Mr. Sickles in prison, and the scene where Key fell. She was dressed in a neat called dress, with a loose white muslin sack. called dress, with a loose white muslin sack.
She is really a very pretty German woman, quite tall, young and pleasing in her way. She was unmoved as she rebearsed the story of the poisoning, but when she came to talk of her children a blush spread over her face and neck, and at last she fell to weeping bitterly. Wednesday, the 27th inst., is the day fixed for her execution. Neither the bill not the second into less there be some truth in the doctrine of Compousation, he will never be punished for his brutality. The
